Innovations in Health (GCARSIH)

Date : April 25, 2022

This Office endorses the subject undertaking "Call for Applications for the 2022 Gelia Castillo Award for Research on Social Innovations in Health (GCARSIH)," which is spearheaded by the Department of Science and Technology-Philippine Council for Health and Development (DOST-PCHRD), together with the Department of Health, Social Innovation in Health Philippines, and the Foundation for the Advancement of Clinical Epidemiology, Inc.

GCARSIH aims to recognize the outstanding social innovations that address persistent, societal and health systems challenges. Through the innovators' experience, we can better understand why and how social innovations create impact and discover the keys to scale up or integrate these effective interventions into the larger health system.

This award is open to ongoing social innovations in health developed by Filipinos for the Filipinos. The entry must be implemented at least one year in the Philippines.

The deadline for submission of the shortlisted entries to the GCARSIH secretariat is on May 06, 2022. A copy of the guidelines including the submission form is attached, for your reference.
